FIRST-YEAR SPRING ADMIT
WHAT IS FYSA?

Each year, UNCW becomes increasingly more selective and we are unable to admit all of the qualified, talented students we want to in the fall. Because space becomes available in the spring semester when some students are studying abroad or graduating, we offer a select group of first-year applicants admission for this term. The First-Year Spring Admit (FYSA) program is designed to allow UNCW to bring in students like you who have achieved academic success, expressed enthusiasm for becoming part of UNCW and exhibited leadership characteristics. We are confident that this select group of students will make a successful academic transition to UNCW.
FYSA students enjoy the flexibility of choosing how to spend the fall semester. There are no requirements put on FYSA students for the fall semester, but a number of options are available.

ACADEMICS

If you wish to get a head start on your academics, you can take classes at a community college near home or close to UNCW. Students can consult with UNCW academic advisors in selecting courses for transfer that would fulfill some of UNCW’s University Studies requirements or simply earn transfer credit.

For transfer credit information, check the Transfer Credit Equivalency Chart on the Office of the Registrar’s website uncw.edu/reg/transfercredit.htm to see how classes may transfer to UNCW. Also, refer to the resources online through University College, uncw.edu/uc/fysa. The majority of students who elect to take courses stay on track to graduate in four years.

Students wishing to take courses elsewhere should complete the Transient Study Form via SeaPort under the Academics Tab.

INTERNSHIPS

Internships are an excellent opportunity to explore a career field. Students are encouraged to find their own (non-credit) internships, and are invited to use the UNCW Career Center website as a resource: uncw.edu/career/internships.html.

WORK

Some students choose to work full- or part-time in order to save money to help finance college costs.

STUDY ABROAD

Use the fall semester to study abroad! UNCW has developed a partnership with Bangor University in the United Kingdom. FYSA students have the opportunity to spend their fall semester studying with other spring admits.

This form will help our academic advisors advise you if you plan to take courses in the fall, and later for spring registration at UNCW. | Students are able to select spring classes prior to orientation by completing an online advising tutorial known as Early Registration. The tutorial will give you an understanding of general education requirements (University Studies), first-year seminar and the online registration system. We expect new students to complete this online advising tutorial for a richer academic advising experience. Deadlines will approach in November. Please check your UNCW email for updates and details on how to participate. |
| Financial Aid

uncw.edu/transitions/freshman/
Registration for orientation will open during the fall semester. All first-year students are required to attend orientation in January. For registration information including dates, costs and deadlines, visit the orientation website. |
To view a complete calendar and deadlines, visit myseaport.uncw.edu and refer to your FYSA TealTicket. |
Agreements for spring on-campus housing will open October 1. You may sign your agreement and pay the required $105 non-refundable housing application fee as long as space is available; students may not request roommates or specific residence halls. A waitlist is kept for those who are not initially placed.

You can choose to live off-campus near UNCW. There are many properties close to campus that can be found on the UNCW off-campus housing website. You can look for roommates, apartments and amenities to best fit your needs. The UNCW shuttle picks up from many off-campus apartment complexes, making it easy to commute.

PERCH services, through the UNCW Office of the Dean of Students, provide programming, advocacy and support for off-campus, non-traditional and graduate students. PERCH hosts many events throughout the year designed for students to network, connect with valuable resources and gain knowledge to be a successful Seahawk.
