AFN290 Readings in Literatures of the African Diaspora explores the literary expressions of Africans as well as people of African descent as they are found in the Caribbean, Latin America, and in the United States. Short stories, novels, poetry, spoken work, rap lyrics and essays constitute the artistic foundations for the class.

AFN 290: Literatures of the African Diaspora – Spring 2022
TR 9:30-10:45am F2F
Instructor: Dr. Emmanuel D. Harris II

AFN290 fulfills the Living in a Global Society University Studies requirement and is one of the core courses for the Africana Studies minor and future AFN major.