

UNCW Anthropology Day

Darwin Day Gallery Celebration

February 26, 2019

5 - 7pm

Randall Library 2047 / Sundial Gallery

Anthropology Day is a celebration of variation in the human experience from a cultural, biological, archaeological, and linguistic perspective

This year we welcome you to join us for fun activities, light refreshments, and a celebration of the art exhibit, "Endless Forms Most Beautiful"

Sponsored by the Department of Anthropology, College of Arts and Sciences, Office of the Associate Provost for Research, Randall Library, Department Art and Art History, and UNCW Anthropology Club.

More details on Facebook: UNCW Anthropology Day and Darwin Day Gallery Celebration

