

ALFRED & ANITA SCHNOG TRAVEL AWARD FOR HOLOCAUST STUDIES

2023 Student Travel Award Application

Application Deadline: January 30, 2023

Awards Announced: February 15, 2023

The Alfred and Anita Schnog Travel Award for Holocaust Studies provides grants of up to $4,000 to travel to international sites OR up to $3,000 for travel to domestic sites to engage in faculty-mentored applied learning projects examining the social, cultural, and geo-political forces that enabled the Holocaust to occur as well as its impact and legacy. The award is available to UNCW sophomores, juniors, seniors, and graduate students with a GPA of 3.0 or above. Projects must be completed while students are enrolled in UNCW. For the 2022-23 academic year, up to four awards will be granted. Please note that all student travel must be pre-approved by the CAS Dean's Office and Academic Affairs.

Successful applicants will demonstrate how the proposed applied learning project will explore a component of the Holocaust and how the project will enhance their experience at UNCW. Students granted Schnog Travel Awards, along with their faculty mentors, will meet (virtually if necessary) with their fellow awardees before departing. In Fall 2023, awardees will present posters at a Schnog Travel Award Project Showcase, which will be attended by members of the Schnog Family Foundation as well as members of the UNCW community. All travel must be completed by August 12, 2023.

Application Materials and Instructions:

Applications should include the following documents:

- Cover page with summary of project (attached below)
- Project proposal (no more than 750 words) that includes:
 - topic of proposed project
 - description of project
 - description of appropriate language skills, if necessary
- List of 5 works (books, articles, other) that will inspire and guide your project
- Travel itinerary, including projected dates (list all locations – countries, cities, historic sites such as memorials, museums, or libraries you plan to visit)
- Budget of estimated costs (include flights, hotels, entrance fees, ground transportation, and per diem). Please determine your budget in consultation with your faculty mentor.
- Letter of recommendation from the UNCW faculty member who has agreed to serve as your mentor. Faculty mentors must hold full-time appointments at UNCW.

Submit completed application materials as an MS Word document (typed signature is acceptable) to your faculty mentor, who will forward them along with a letter of recommendation to the Chair of the Schnog Scholars Committee as a pdf file.
