Explore the experiences of African-American women who have lived with HIV for 10 or more years with Dr. Sabrina Cherry, assistant professor of public health at UNC Wilmington.

Learn about how Cherry’s narrative research helps her re-tell the women’s stories as a way of informing public health practice and better serving high-risk populations along the care continuum.

Space is limited. This program is part of Health and Human Services Week. Reserve a seat for this and other programs at uncw.edu/hhsweek.

Accommodations for disabilities may be requested by contacting CHHS Business Core Services at 910.962.7999 at least three days prior to the event. An EEO/AA Institution.