UNCW

University of North Carolina Wilmington

School of Health and Applied Human Sciences

Master of Healthcare Administration
UNC Wilmington’s Master of Healthcare Administration (MHA) program prepares early to mid-level careerists, by providing transformative learning experiences and foundational knowledge and skills, to serve as effective managers and administrators within a wide range of healthcare organizations throughout Southeastern N.C. and beyond.

• No GRE/GMAT required.
• Competency focused curriculum delivered 100% online in a 7-week, asynchronous format.
• Students are admitted six times per academic year.
• Finish your degree in as few as 12 months.

As a graduate of this online master’s program, you will be prepared for administrative roles in healthcare settings such as:

• hospital and health systems,
• ambulatory care centers,
• mental health organizations,
• pharmaceutical companies,
• public health departments,
• medical group practices and more.

UNCW is a participant in the American College for Healthcare Executives (ACHE) Higher Education Network.

For More Information
Visit uncw.edu/mha or email mha@uncw.edu.