Research Study: Kemppainen, J., Reid, P.V. (Co-Principal Investigators).
"Descriptive Analysis of Posttraumatic Stress Disorder Symptoms in Minority Women with HIV Disease Living in Rural Southeastern North Carolina" (In-Process)

Research Study: Co- Principal Investigator – Study V, Wilmington Site (2009-2011)
"Exploring the role self-compassion, self-efficacy, and self-esteem for HIV positive individuals managing their HIV."

This research study is in collaboration with the International Nursing Network for HIV Research. I was invited to become a member in 2009. This is a nationally well-known research network in the HIV community that has published numerous manuscripts. This international group of nurse scientists is dedicated to research and education for the purpose of improving the nursing care of persons living with HIV disease around the world. The network's primary activities include a series of multi-site collaborative studies that focus on improving adherence to HIV therapies, symptom self-management, and other key patient care issues. Study findings have been widely disseminated through publications and national and international venues (Holzemer, 2007).

Research Study: Study VI, Health Literacy and HIV. Data collection completed 2014 in the Wilmington, NC site. We are currently analyzing data and publishing manuscripts from Study VI.
