There are currently no health benefits for this position.

All applicants must have a Bachelor's Degree in a human service field and must have a minimum of 5 years working with vulnerable populations and/or individuals in crisis. For those in recovery, you must have a minimum of 3 years clean and sober. Only those available to start training within the next two to three weeks should apply. You must be available for an immediate in-person interview. We prefer that applicants live in the Wilmington area in order to provide a timely crisis response when on hotline rotation. At this time, we are only searching for new candidates who have not previously interviewed for this position.
