In the Aftermath of the Hurricane (text version of graphic)

It is important to recognize that we all have different ways of reacting to stressful situations. It is normal to experience a wide range of emotions, including feeling numb or detached from others, after a natural disaster.

The most common reactions we see include an increase in irritability, difficulty expressing emotions, shortened temper and increased frustration, worry, and a change in substance use.

Ways To Cope

Practice Self-Compassion

- Give yourself time to adjust and mourn any loses
- Be patient with emotional ups and downs

Find Connection

- Spend time with friends and family
- Engage in social activities
- Take time to talk about the experience

Get Back to Healthy Habits

- Eat meals at regular times
- Try to go to sleep and wake up at the same times
- Find ways to be active

Practice Mindfulness

- 5 minutes of daily meditation can increase happiness and decrease stress
