

Presenting

Creating an Inclusive Work Environment

If your customer base is diverse, you need evidence of diversity and inclusion in your work environment to be a successful organization. In the case of UNCW, our students and other constituents are our “clients.” This workshop will help you become more effective at meeting the needs of your clients by way of intentionality, specifically related to diversity and inclusion.

Upcoming Dates:

Friday, October 27 and Friday, December 15

Presented by: Kimberly McLaughlin-Smith

1:30-3:00pm | Friday Annex 136 | Visit the Catalog to Register

We want to make our work environments more deliberately inclusive and diversity-conscious. The work starts with you, the leader, as you develop a broader lens. Participants will first establish where they currently are and use that as a foundation on which to envision inclusive growth in their departments.

What's in it for you?

- Broaden the scope through which you view inclusion
- Leverage diversity to benefit your team and clients
- Learn to incentivize and empower your staff
- Blend diversity initiatives into the workplace

Tools Needed:

- Open Mind
- Note Pad
- Writing Utensil

Co-Sponsored by the Dare to Learn Academy
HR Learning & Talent Development
UNC Wilmington