

UNC System Racial Equity Task Force to Launch Survey Sept. 14

Beginning, Monday, Sept. 14, the UNC System Racial Equity Task Force will conduct a survey of faculty, staff and students to identify issues of race, equity, and disparities that exist across the UNC System.

Your input will be used to help the System understand which issues are important to you and what changes need to be made. Your feedback will also assist in developing recommendations to be presented to the UNC Board of Governors and UNC System President in December.

The task force also plans to host a series of virtual town hall meetings scheduled Oct. 19-30. These listening sessions will give you the opportunity to share your ideas and your stories. You can also provide feedback via email at RacialEquity@northcarolina.edu or through Share Your Ideas.

In June, the UNC System announced the establishment of the task force to develop a strategic plan to address equity and disparities in a comprehensive and meaningful way. You can learn more about the task force here.

Please monitor your inboxes for the survey and information about the upcoming virtual town hall meetings. I encourage you to participate in the survey and town hall meetings and to have your voices heard. Thank you in advance for your participation.

Sincerely,

Donyell L. Roseboro, Ph.D.
Professor and Interim Chief Diversity Officer
