American Indians in North Carolina: Past and Present
Thursday, Nov. 7 | 10:15 - 11:15 a.m.
Fisher Student Center, Topsail Island Room 2019
Watch LIVE! an exploration of the 1,000-year-old Town Creek Indian Mound State Historic Site in Montgomery County. Who were the people who lived there? What were their lives like? Why did they leave the region, and where did they go? How are they represented in our state today? With special guests, members of American Indian tribes and site staff, we’ll investigate—and learn about our state’s first peoples.

#RockYourMocs2019#NationalRockYourMocsDay
Friday, Nov. 15
https://www.facebook.com/RockYourMocs/
Established in 2011, Rock Your Mocs is best described as a worldwide Native American and Indigenous Peoples social media event held annually and concurrently with November National Native American Heritage Month in the U.S. People wear their moccasins and post them on the internet with the hashtag #rockyourmocs #rockyourmocsunw #rockyourmocsseahawks

Black Indian: An American Story - Film and Discussion
Thursday, Nov. 21 | 6 - 8 p.m.
Randall Library Auditorium, Room 2047
James Earl Jones narrates a stunning and informative documentary “Black Indians: An American Story”, which explores issues of racial identity between the mixed-descent peoples of both Native American and African American heritage. James Earl Jones is himself a Black Indian.

Native American Heritage Month Meet and Greet
Friday, Nov. 22, | Noon - 1:30 p.m.
Fisher Student Center, Clock Tower Lounge
www.ncmuseumofhistory.org/aihc-2019 #AIHC2019
Join faculty, staff and students interested in celebrating American Indian Heritage. Refreshments will be served. Also, via the NC Museum of History’s LIVE! we will stream the American Indian Heritage Education Day to hear music and see dances performed by North Carolina American Indian groups. This LIVE! event will not be hosted but will focus on providing access to the celebration taking place in the museum’s Daniels Auditorium. Sponsored by Blue Cross and Blue Shield of North Carolina.

UNCW is an EEO/AA institution. Questions regarding UNCW’s Title IX compliance should be directed to TitleIX@UNCW.edu.