MEd Leadership, Policy & Advocacy in Early Childhood

Student Learning Outcomes

Graduates of the MEd Leadership, Policy & Advocacy in Early Childhood program will be expected to have demonstrated knowledge and proficiency in the following areas:

SLO1: Understand the historical and contemporary social and political issues that affect families and children.

SLO2: Understand, support, and advocate for the positive and productive development, health, education and other needs of diverse families and children.

SLO3: Think and act critically as a member of a complex and global society with responsibilities for all citizens.

SLO4: Use data effectively for assessment and decision-making, including the design and evaluation of effective services and programs for families and children.

SLO5: Provide effective leadership in developing and changing organizations that support families and children.