
Advance Your Career

University of North Carolina Wilmington
Watson College of Education

Graduate Programs
Advance Your Career!

Graduate Programs at Watson

UNCW’s Watson College of Education offers exceptional graduate-level programs for teachers looking to improve knowledge and expertise in a given field, and professionals seeking a career in school administration, curriculum and instruction, higher education, instructional technology or educational leadership.

Why Watson?

The Watson College offers:
- Dedicated and engaged faculty
- A collaborative learning environment
- Extensive applied learning experiences
- Strong ties to partners in the community
- Flexible online and blended course formats

Fields of Study

Programs for Teachers and Administrators

Master of Education (M.Ed.)
- Academically and Intellectually Gifted*
- Curriculum, Instruction and Supervision*
- Elementary Education
- English as a Second Language*
- Language and Literacy*
- Leadership, Policy and Advocacy in Early Childhood
- Physical Education and Health
- Spanish Specialization

Master of School Administration

*Add-on licensure also offered

Instructional Design Programs

- Master of Science in Instructional Technology (MIT)
- Instructional Technology Specialist Certificate
- Online Teaching and Learning Certificate

Higher Education Programs

- M.Ed. in Higher Education
- College Teaching and Learning Certificate

Doctoral Program in Educational Leadership

Ed.D. specializations are offered in:
- Curriculum and Instruction
- Educational Administration
- Higher Education

For more information, visit www.uncw.edu/ed/learn