

Produce and Share with Camtasia for MAC

The following steps will guide you through the process of producing a video created using Camtasia Studio. A Camtasia project is stored as a .camproj file, which only can be opened with Camtasia Studio. To create a video that others can view, you must produce the video in a different format. We recommend .mp4 format.

1. Once you have the video how you want it, go up to the Share menu and hit Export.

2. Navigate to a folder where you want to save the final version. Give it a name and hit Export. This will create a mp4 file by default.

3. To share your video on the Internet you can use Screencast.com (hosted by the creators of Camtasia) or youtube.com. You must create an account for these sites if you don't have one already.

4. To share on youtube.com, go to Share> Youtube and sign in to your account or create a new account. Title the video and hit share (you can add description and tags if desired).

5. When finished the URL will appear and the embed code.

6. To view/edit your video on youtube, click on Creator Studio at the top right of the youtube.com home screen.
