Dr. Elizabeth O. Crawford spent the last academic year working as a Fellow with the nonprofit organization Global Teacher Education. As part of her fellowship, she focused on enhancing how she incorporates global learning experiences in student teaching coursework. Part of this project included her UNCW Community Engagement Grant with Heidi Higgins to bring the head of education at Lyfta to Wilmington in March for a presentation and residency about using virtual reality as a tool to build global empathy. Dr. Crawford and her students created a video about a module in the course. Click here to view the video.
