

Motion 2012-12-M01 QEP Summary:

The QEP is one of the primary requirements of UNCW's 2013 re-accreditation through the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS). Campus participants chose the topic, "eTEAL: experiencing Transformative Education through Applied Learning," with the goal of improving applied learning outcomes for our students through the application and funding of research-based instructional strategies. eTEAL has benefited from and continues to be refined through campus community pilot projects and extensive feedback mechanisms. More specifically, eTEAL will enhance applied learning at UNCW by providing resources and support for faculty and staff who work with applied learning pedagogy and critical reflection through an integrated, three-part approach: the Applied Learning Summer Institute, the Applied Learning and Teaching Community (ALTC,) and eTEAL-Supported Pedagogy Initiatives.
