

As of this semester, SPOT is no more.

Course evaluations will be done with IDEA

What should students expect?

- On November 25th, you will receive notification from CourseEvals@uncw.edu that your courses are open for evaluation:
 - Do not delete or ignore the email
 - If you have questions about the instrument, ask your instructor—you may want to ask if it will be administered during regular class time
 - Follow the instructions carefully and conscientiously—the results are important for improving instruction and fair evaluations
 - Be sure to complete the evaluations by the last day of classes, December 4th

Why the change?

- IDEA focuses on your learning relative to the objectives of the course
- IDEA provides feedback to the faculty on instructional strategies, allowing you to play a role in improving the learning experience for students at UNCW
- Find out more at <http://www.theideacenter.org/services/student-ratings>