It is also the policy of University of North Carolina Wilmington to take affirmative action to employ and to advance in employment, all persons regardless of their status as individuals with disabilities or protected veterans, and to base all employment decisions only on valid job requirements. This policy shall apply to all employment actions, including but not limited to recruitment, hiring, upgrading, promotion, transfer, demotion, layoff, recall, termination, rates of pay or other forms of compensation, and selection for training, including apprenticeship, at all levels of employment. Prohibited retaliation includes, but is not limited to, harassment, intimidation, threats, coercion or other adverse actions that might dissuade someone from asserting their rights.

As Chancellor of University of North Carolina Wilmington, I am committed to the principles of affirmative action and equal employment opportunity. II. Review of Personnel Processes (41 CFR 60-741.44(b))

University of North Carolina Wilmington complies with the requirement to "periodically review" its personnel processes by reviewing these processes annually to determine whether its present procedures assure careful, thorough, and systematic consideration of the qualifications of known individuals with disabilities. As part of this review, University of North Carolina Wilmington also ensures that its personnel processes do... not stereotype individuals with disabilities in a manner which limits their access to all jobs for which they are qualified. This review covers all procedures related to the filling of job vacancies either by hire or by promotion, as well as to all training opportunities offered or made available to employees.

The following is a set of procedures which may be used to meet the requirements of 41 CFR 60-741.44(b):

1. Applicant records are maintained which indicate whether or not an applicant self-identified as an individual with a disability. This information can be retrieved for review by the Department of Labor and the contractor's personnel officials for use in investigations and internal compliance activities.
2. Records are maintained which indicate employees considered for competitive promotions within the organization. Employees are given the opportunity to voluntarily self-identify disability status.
3. Records are maintained regarding training opportunities granted to employees which include whether or not the employee has self-identified as an individual with a disability.
4. Any time a known applicant or employee with a disability is rejected for employment, promotion, or training, the company prepares a statement outlining the reason.
5. Requests for accommodation due to a disability are maintained along with the nature of the request and whether or not the accommodation was granted. If the accommodation was denied, the company prepares a statement describing the reason for denying the accommodation request. All accommodation records are treated as a confidential medical record in accordance with 41 CFR 60-741(d).

III. Review of Physical and Mental Job Qualification Standards (41 CFR 60-741.44(c))

University of North Carolina Wilmington reviews the physical and mental job qualification standards of each job opening before it is publicly or internally posted to ensure that, to the extent that such qualification requirements tend to screen out qualified individuals with disabilities, they are related to the job(s) in question and consistent with business necessity and the safe performance of the job. The physical and mental qualifications are also reviewed as new jobs are established or job requirements are modified.

All job qualification requirements were found to be job related and consistent with business necessity and safety. University of North Carolina Wilmington will continue to review physical and mental job qualification requirements whenever a job vacancy will be filled through either hiring or promotion and will conduct a qualifications review whenever job duties change.

If University of North Carolina Wilmington at any time should inquire into an applicant's physical or mental condition or should conduct a medical examination, such inquiries or exams will be conducted in accordance with the Section 503 regulations and the information obtained as a result of the inquiry or exam will be kept confidential, except as otherwise provided for in the Section 503 regulations. The results of the examination or inquiry will only be used in accordance with the Section 503 regulations.

IV. Reasonable Accommodation to Physical and Mental Limitations (41 CFR 60-741.44(d))

University of North Carolina Wilmington will continue its longstanding commitment to making reasonable accommodation to the known physical or mental limitations of qualified individuals with disabilities unless doing so would impose an undue hardship on the operation of its business. The company also commits to engaging in an interactive process with the person requesting the accommodation (or the person's representative), as needed, to determine an appropriate accommodation.

If an employee with a known disability has significant difficulty performing his or her job and it is reasonable to conclude that the performance problem may be related to the known disability, the manager or appropriate HR personnel will confidentially notify the employee of the performance problem and inquire whether the problem is related to the employee's disability. If the employee indicates that the performance problems are related to his or her disability, the employee is asked if reasonable accommodation is needed.

In determining the extent of the company's accommodation obligations, the following factors are considered:

1. Business necessity; and
2. Financial cost and expense.

University of North Carolina Wilmington will also ensure that all requests for reasonable accommodation and any medical or disability-related information provided to University of North Carolina Wilmington will be treated as confidential medical records and maintained in a separate medical file.

V. Anti-Harassment Procedures (41 CFR 60-741.44(e))

Employees and applicants of University of North Carolina Wilmington will not be subject to harassment because of disability. Retaliation, including intimidation, threat, coercion, or discrimination, against an employee or applicant because they have objected to discrimination, engaged or may engage in filing a complaint, assisted in a review, investigation, or hearing or have otherwise sought to obtain their legal rights under any Federal, State, or local EEO law regarding individuals with disabilities is prohibited. Any employee or applicant who believes that he or she has been subject to retaliation should promptly contact a manager in their chain of command, or promptly contact the Interim Associate Vice Chancellor for Human Resources for assistance.
This policy is made available for employees and applicants to view. Furthermore, University of North Carolina Wilmington monitors its environment for the presence of any forms of harassment, intimidation, or coercion and, where warranted, takes corrective action.

VI. External Dissemination of Policy, Outreach, and Positive Recruitment (41 CFR 60-741.44(f))

In order to comply with the external dissemination of the EEO and Affirmative Action policy, the company provides written or electronic notification to all current subcontractors, vendors, and suppliers and will continue to do so on an annual basis. The company will also provide such notification to new subcontractors, vendors, and suppliers upon entering into a relationship with them.

University of North Carolina Wilmington has informed its recruiting sources, including State employment agencies and local employment service delivery systems, of the company's policy concerning the employment of qualified individuals with disabilities and will notify them of employment opportunities as they become available. University of North Carolina Wilmington requested all recruiting sources to actively recruit and refer qualified persons for job opportunities. University of North Carolina Wilmington will include the equal opportunity clause concerning the employment of qualified individuals with disabilities in all non-exempt subcontracts and purchase orders.

VII. Internal Dissemination of Policy (41 CFR 60-741.44(g))
