CRM 377 RESTORATIVE JUSTICE
CRN: 12159
PROFESSOR KIM COOK
FMI, EMAIL: COOKK@UNCW.EDU

• Join the Circle! Enroll in CRM 377 (CRN 12159)
• Mondays, 3:30 – 6:15, 219 Bear Hall.
• Restorative Justice is a global and local reform strategy to provide meaningful justice options to people whose lives have been impacted by crime. This class explores the theory, practice, and empirical findings associated with restorative justice. Applied learning is central to this class in that circle process is used throughout the semester as a platform for instruction.
• Pre-Requisites: CRM 105, SOC/CRM 255 or 256, plus three hours in criminology at 300 level, or permission of instructor
• Excellent preparation for employers – this is an expanding practice across the country.

Assignments: weekly circle process participation, academic and practitioner oriented readings, topical cluster presentation, and practice-oriented term paper.

You may also be interested in the optional Restorative Justice Community Engagement as a companion for CRM 377. You can work in a local community agency that is using restorative justice to learn and contribute to their programs. This will satisfy EBC and can be used as a primary or secondary elective in criminology, if you enroll in 3 credits for the RJCE.
In this course, we explore the idea that health and illness cannot be understood simply as biological phenomena or individual medical issues. Instead, we must consider broad societal influences and contexts, from structural and cultural to political, economic, and interpersonal forces.

In the first part of the course, we will study social causes, correlates, and consequences of health and illness. We will explore how social structures and inequalities with respect to social class, age, gender, race, etc., impact the patterns of health and illness in the U.S and worldwide. In the second part of the course, we will examine how people experience illness, analyze the roles of the patients and health care providers and their interactions, and discuss the basics of health care systems in the U.S. and globally from a sociological perspective. Issues surrounding health and health care are at the forefront of economic, social, and political discourse in most countries around the world. The overarching goal of this course is to help you become a better-informed citizen with respect to health and health-care issues by analyzing health and medical institutions sociologically.
A LITTLE BIT ABOUT ME:

I COME TO UNCW FRESH OUT OF THE UNIVERSITY OF SOUTH FLORIDA, WHERE I EARNED MY DOCTORATE IN SOCIOLOGY IN AUGUST OF 2020. AS A MEDICAL SOCIOLOGIST, WITH A CONCENTRATION IN MENTAL HEALTH, MY RESEARCH IS FOCUSED ON IMPROVING THE LIVED EXPERIENCE OF INDIVIDUALS WHO HAVE BEEN DIAGNOSED WITH A SERIOUS MENTAL ILLNESS, INCLUDING ADDRESSING THE CHALLENGES EXPERIENCED BY FAMILY MEMBERS AND OTHERS IN THEIR SOCIAL NETWORK.
Switch to a Public Sociology/Criminology Major!

• Are you planning to graduate in Spring 2022? Consider switching to a public sociology/criminology major!

• In the fall of 2021, you would enroll in SOC/CRM391. In the Spring you would enroll in SOC/CRM496, which is six credit hours.

• Throughout the two semester course you will do a community-based research project from start to finish. Our community partner this year is the Wilmington Police Department.

• In the spring you will do a practicum/internship experience of your choice.

• You will also gain explorations beyond the classroom university studies credit.

• If you have any questions, please contact Dr. Waity at waityj@uncw.edu who will be teaching the public sociology/criminology capstone courses in the 2021-2022 academic year.
